Kenya is one of the best places to live across the African continent. The truth is that most people even in Africa dream to live in Kenya.

Surprisingly, every other person across the East Africa countries dreams to visit and somewhat live in this great country. But why does everyone want to visit, tour, and live in Kenya?

From time immemorial, the British fought to live and have a share of Africa, so they settled their headquarters in Kenya. As you read through history, the capital of British rule across East Africa before colonization was in Kenya.

Therefore, Kenya from the old times was a great country in terms of geographical location within the region, easy access in the region, good weather, great natural resources like wildlife, and many more.

Aside from history, Kenya is a major economic powerhouse in the region. It supports other countries across the region from its developed ports and hubs. This makes Kenya an East and Central Africa hub.

Every other country within the regional domain has to plug itself in Kenya. But what would a common person look for aside from the old political influence and power that makes Kenya a good place to live in Africa?

From a tourism and real estate point of view, Kenya is beautiful and great to live in for the following reasons; The Kenyan people are internationally known to be hospitable, loving, and kind. Common people across the streets and in the estates help each other without conditions.

This can also be seen in hotels. You can always try Kenyan hotels and you'll also have a great service, a stamp of hospitality.

Kenya is one of the best places to touristically visit. It is fun that Kenya is a premium safari destination and recently crowned as a top beach destination in Africa.
