Got Sinai Foundation teams are actively involved in providing much needed relief assistance to thousands of severely affected vulnerable families in many parts of low-lying counties of Kenya during flooding.

Got Sinai Foundation offers relief food and other forms of assistance such as evacuation to higher and safer grounds, targeting the most destitute in the society, including the elderly, children, the sick, physically challenged, single headed families, and even people living with HIV/AIDS. We offer this humanitarian assistance by providing the victims with household items, shelter, mosquito nets, blankets, safe drinking water, and other non-food assistance such as health facilities.

We have so far covered many parts of Kenya with these interventions, including Nairobi, Kikuyu, Mandera, Garissa, Kisumu, Migori, and Trans-Nzoia Counties.

In Nairobi County, the communities living in informal settlements and slums, such as Kibra, Mathare, Mukuru, Kawangware and Korogocho, among many more, continue to be affected by the floods caused by rains resulting in the collapse of building structures and a breakdown of sanitary infrastructures.

Such leave thousands of households without shelter or food. Got Sinai Foundation has so far distributed 506 blankets and over 227 mosquito nets this year, 2024 alone. In addition, we have been heavily engaged in helping clean the garbage and rubbles clogging the drainages along the walking paths in these habitats.

Got Sinai Foundation's assistance to flood victims is made possible through the support and small acts of kindness by well-wishers and our partners in Kenya and abroad.

Got Sinai Foundation is actively involved in agriculture targeted programs that aim to sustainably improve household food security, by harnessing locally available resources to disadvantaged members of society, with focus on organized village dwelling housewives and widows. We engage and support these groups and individuals by helping them ready their farms, supply of satisfied seed, fertilizer. These deliberate interventions target the poor and vulnerable households with primary objective to promote food and nutrition security and resilience.

We also run a feeding program that provides a ration of grains and fortified vegetable oil to this target population. This intervention is meant to improve nutrition and health among pregnant and lactating women and children under two, as well as to supplement their food basket to prevent stunting in young children.

This gesture represents the spirit of the foundation which enables beneficiaries to initiate and control their own development, working together in a collaborative way to support each other to become more resilient, prosperous and self-reliant.
